> THE value of trade statistics at free ports may be judged from the following remarks of the Penang Gazette :- We do not intend to notice all the inconsistencies we have discovered in the various tables attached to the report, and merely give the following as a sample, and as confirmatory of Capt. Craufurd's remarks. The total value of the tin exported from Penang to Singapore last year was $3,694,572, the total value imported (into Singapore) from Penang $2,677,237,—a difference of $1,017,335. This, however, is an improvement on the figures of the previous year, when the value of the tin shipped to Singapore from Penang was stated as $3,890,414, and the value of the tin received at Singapore as only $1.863.342,—a difference of $2,027,072 Taking the two years together it would appear as if the value of the tin shipped from Penang to Singapore exceeded the value of the tin imported into the latter port by $3,044,407. There certainly are discrepancies in the returns. It is needless to say that such returns are worse than

THE Chairman of the Singapore Insurance Co., in the course of his specch at the a list of 14 well-known English companies, giving a statement of their profits for the last five years, from which it appears that during that time the average profils have not exceeded 4.98 per cent of the premia, working shews an actual loss. . . . . As regards the business of the past year, it. has been remarkable for the unusually heavy alone but in nearly all trades. It is also clear that the rates of premium on what Bankers would call "gilt edged paper" have been on the average too low, and as there are no signs of au advance in rates your ricks and are cultivating business of a general kind and which pays better. At the same time I would emphasize the fact that while believing that a too exclusive policy as regards underwriting these risks cannot at the present rate of premia be profitable, your Directors have no intention of departing from their rule of carefully selecting

FROM an occasional correspondent in Seoul, says the Nagasaki Express, we learn that the Royal Gazette of the 15th inst. contained a notification to the effect that Mr O. N. Donny's contract for two years with the Corean Government having expired, his connection as Vice-President of the Homo Office had ceased. Our informant also atates that about two weeks ago a Royal Decree was issued, directing the dismissal of all the employes of the Foreign Office, except the President, consequently Mr. Denny's connection with the Foreign Office has also ceased. It is said that he has now been paid up his arrears of salary in full, and will shortly leave Corea. --From the same source we also learn that, a few daysago, while two of the French Catholic Missi paries were coming up to the capital, from one of the southern provinced, for their annual remnion, they were stopped by a band of some twenty briganda about 39 miles from Secul. Both of them were slightly wounded with sword cuts, and were relieved of all their possessions and clothes, except their trowsers. It was, at one time, considered whether they ought not to be put to death, as it was thought they were Japanese; but fortunately on closer examination it was found they had the appearance of being Europeans, and their lives were spared. The French authorities here are said to be very angry at such an outrage being committed.

THE American ship Santa Clara, Capiain

R. W. Fuller, arrived at Nagasaki from Philadelphia on the 26th ultimo, after a voyage of 172 days, bringing a cargo of 50 000 cases of kerosino oil, consigned to the China and Japan Trading Co., Ltd., at that port. Several days previous to her arrival else was reported to have been seen off the coast, and on the 25th ulf the captain arrived at Nagasaki in one of the ship's boats, with the unfortunate news that his ship had been ashore and required at sistsuitable vessel available, was at the time loaded and ready to proceed to Shanghai. Arrangements were at once made for her to take auchors and chains (the Santa Clara having lost both anchors and cables in bringing up) and render any assistance same night, and ir corded towards Oshima, where the anchored until daylight the next morning, when the Sunta Clara was found to be affort, but jammed in, in a small bay, on the mainland, about four miles distant. On arriving at this bay the Inyo had to the tow-rope on board the hawsers which held the ship in her position were cut, and the steamer steamed ahead, arriving at Nagasaki about 4.30 p.m., with the Santa Clara in tow. The extent of the damage sustained by the Soula Clara is not yet known, but as she is not making water it is most likely confined to the keel. She will probubly be docked as soon as her cargo is discharged. The weather for about a week proviens to the arrival of the Souta Clara was exceedingly bad for navigating, even
